YOU ARE A POEM
You are a photo
of the moon,
uncaptured,
too astonishing,
unbottled. You
cannot be written.
You are a warm
rain, in a gleaming
creek, behind my
little house, in my
deepest dreams,
unshared, seen
only with no lense.